$250,000 Line Of Credit Precision Machine Shop

This small-volume, high-precision machine shop had outgrown its local banking relationship and was a perfect fit for an asset-based revolver to continue its growth and capitalize on market opportunities. The relatively small loan size made it a difficult loan to place ... except for the lenders at Diamond Business Credit! Despite the small size and thin capitalization, Diamond was very happy to extend a credit line that would support the company's ambitious business plan. The company maintained its local banking relationship and Diamond assumed all the credit risk. The company has the cash it needs to add sales to the top line and profits to the bottom! When the balance sheet improves, the company will make an easy transition back to conventional bank financing... with no prepayment penalties. Winners all around!

...Another Diamond success story!
