$150,000 Line OF Credit

Start-up service provider to the telecommunications industry

Diamond Business Credit is pleased to announce that it recently funded a $150,000 line of credit to a start-up telecommunications service company. The Company provides services to large telecommunications firms as they upgrade cell towers nationwide to accommodate newer technologies. The start-up is the brainchild of two entrepreneurs who had spent many years in telecommunications management before setting out on their own to capitalize on their knowledge and inside contacts.

As is common with start-ups, the principals tapped into savings and home equity to initialize the Company and needed a working capital line to assist with growth plans. The Company's strong customer base and experienced management team convinced Diamond to extend credit support and the company is now growing and profitable. When the Company establishes a sufficient track record, it will move on to conventional bank financing without the burden of a termination penalty or a long term contract to worry about.
